GO DEEPER

BY JORDAN BIKILA

For the first time in a while I've seen the hunger of young adults to draw closer and deeper in their relationship with God. It's such a privilege that we get to worship a God that we are in relationship with, a real God that speaks and moves.

Worship is a weapon that the enemy hates! When you worship you're not just singing songs, you are releasing a sound and creating an atmosphere where amazing things can take place. To go deeper is an action, there is a level of intentionality attached to it. We need hunger for more and constantly search for his presence. In 2020 we're going Deeper and we're gonna be intentional and fearless with it!

As a worshiper, I made the decision a long time ago to go beyond the basic surface level of worship and strive to go deeper. I worship through my testimony, knowing that if it had not been for the Lord who was on my side, I will not be here! So when we worship don't just give 'church Good', give your BEST, because the God we serve is the BEST.

WELCOME BACK

BY DOROTHY ATTA

We hope you've had a great start to the year. I wanted to reintroduce our newsletter.

We recognise that being a Christian in this generation isn't always simple or easy. Unfortunately, there are so many voices and opinions that will try to force you into conforming but as children of God we must know how to stand firm and keep our eyes on Jesus.

As young adults we face different things on a daily basis and it's important to talk about them. Learning how to steward godly friendships, to using our gifts and more. If you have any suggestions of what you would like to see covered, please email us on the.kt.hub@gmail.com

IN, BUT NOT OF

BY NEVARDO WILLIAMS

When your passion and your purpose leads you into a world full of temptation and an industry or space where sin is embeded in the culture, what do you do ?

Yes we must stay focused and you cling to Jesus, but some things are easier said than done. Here are three practical steps you can take to help navigate this world:

1. Prayer

Prayer is important because it is one of the ways you develop your relationship with God and could also be how you find out why God has placed you where you are. By knowing why you are where you are, it will help you stay focused on your mission and also spending time with God will help you to flee from temptation.

2. Accountability

Have you heard of the term 'accountability partner'. This is someone that will help to keep you disciplined and will hold you accountable for your actions. This is important because sometimes our spiritual siblings can see things in us that we can't see. We were all created to be in community and to support each other.

3. Be yourself and know yourself

Be honest, be yourself, be human. As disciples of Christ we are called to be the light of this earth, but we are not expected to be perfect so we shouldn't pretend to be. Also remember that it is okay to not know something. You're on a journey and you don't have all the answers and you never will. If we knew everything, then why would we need God ?

However, there is one thing you do need to know and that is why you believe what you believe. If you don't know why you've started this journey, then how could you expect others to join you ?

FASTING

BY THARA POPOOLA

At the beginning of January, I felt led to fast, naturally, I assumed this was meant to be a fast from food and considering I had just spent the Christmas break stuffing my face this made the most sense. I then listened to a sermon from Pastor Mike Todd of Transformation church and he highlighted how 'fasting is giving up something that we like'. Now don't get me wrong I like food, in fact, I love it but for some reason, I felt God was telling me to give up listening to music. Now if you know me you will know that I LOVE music, I pretty much have a playlist for every moment; showering, doing the dishes, frying plantain! the list goes on. So, the idea of giving this up, even for a week, seemed pretty daunting to be honest. Prayer and fasting go hand in hand (Daniel 9:3) and I found that giving up music left me with more space and throughout the week I began to use this space that I would usually fill with music to pray and talk to God. I felt that I gained clarity in relation to certain areas of my life and also established a routine of seeking God more regularly throughout the day. I encourage you all to have a go at 'giving up something you like' whether it be; food, social media or maybe even music and spend this time intentionally seeking God.
